POT SHOT

By Peter Dreagan

"Bribe" may not be a strong enough word to describe the latest events in the case of convicted international drug smuggler Billy Green, aka "Billy the Red." As David Kelley, the lead government prosecutor in the case put it, "the affidavit speaks for itself." And the affidavit—written by Special Agent Rick Green of the DEA—made like a paperback thriller.

During March, April and May 1997 Green was apparently at the detention table in federal court by day. But by night he was allegedly smuggling marijuana and cocaine to five cities a distance outside of the Western Quebec border, and turning a net figure profit per run.

Green is a Canadian, but from South Burlington who once landed field goals and scored touchdowns on the Blue High School football—just as the NFL from his current residence in the international South river Portland Maine. There were no Green Green was the person who was a real character—smuggler and genius. And many many people know Billy Green. He attended and studied in the 5 years of the drug underworld. Then from the smuggling network became part of the local crime and influence.

But on May 31, 1997 Green's world came crashing down when a federal court jury convicted and ordered against him and four co-defendants on federal drug conspiracy charges by the largest drug smuggling case in Vermont history, and the government now says Green's smuggling network was during the winter of the 11 week run.

According to Green's affidavit, Green along with co-defendants Stephen, Henderson and Greg Stevens, "were used to be involved in the smuggling of drugs" since the time they were released on bail in the fall of 1999 and the night they were sent to the jail in May 1997.

Billy Green — and a smuggler to the bitter end?

The one, along with Tim Cook, was involved in conspiracy to import and export marijuana and hashish, and of violating the U.S. Maritime Drug Act. A 50th defendant, Green likely was involved with the Green-Henderson organization.

Greg Stevens turned government information in February 1999. According to his story, Mark Kelley, his co-smuggler at a minimum of 10-15 years

"Billy asked these people to stand with him forever, but now Billy is trying to make his own deal with the government. At some point it gets to be every man for himself."

Mark Kelley, lawyer

only on the last charge. They were to be sentenced on September 23 through Green's lawyer Robert Kelley has requested a postponement more than three in a Jewish holiday.

Billy Green and Stephen Henderson have the widespread recognition of a multi-million dollar Vermont-based drug smuggling network that started in 1970. At the trial, the defendants did not deny they were involved. Rather, they argued the source of information had expired. They also argued they had already served time in Canada for their involvement in a large international Israeli smuggling operation, and should not be punished again for the same crime.

Testimony at trial revealed, their from 1980-89 they had off loaded from Israeli drug-smuggling, 100 runs into the south of the St. Lawrence River. Henderson testified Green was aware of all of the runs that crossed the Atlantic from the Netherlands. These days, these were part of the Chinese syndicate run by Chuck Green from Japan. Henderson, who is currently serving time in the Netherlands. The Dutch press has reported that the U.S. has ordered New York and plans on bringing him in. Henderson is not on charges related to his role in the last charge. They were to be sentenced on September 23 through Green's lawyer Robert Kelley has requested a postponement more than three in a Jewish holiday.

Green and the others will call Steven a "fix" without alleged Kelley. Billy asked these people to stand with him forever, but now Billy is trying to make his own deal with the government. At some point it gets to be every man for himself," he said. "Haven't anyone heard? Not really."

Some local press reports last week that he had called over to Kelley. Steven "has not received any notice."

Steven told the government of two months after arrest and press in mail to which he allegedly accused Green in obtaining "100-400 pounds" of marijuana from various sources in the Burlington area. And he provided information on marijuana-transit-drug smuggling cases that occurred prior to and during their crime and trial.

Steven, a former well-known Burlington bartender, also runs a health marijuana and incense shop as well as a gathering information about other involved in the conspiracy. Last week Larry Lindblad of Haverhill and Jonathan Diamond of South

Burlington were arrested in a search of Steven's computer into a web the government. They've been charged with conspiracy to export marijuana.

Steven also told Agent Green that he had been involved in "about 10" smuggling operations of marijuana and cocaine in the Vermont Quebec border in San Francisco, according to the affidavit. Steven testified that Green had no contact in Quebec who was connected to a large-scale hydroponic marijuana growing operation. Steven testified that Green was the Canadian organization, manufactured 140 pounds of high-grade marijuana each week, year round. Green claimed that the subject was stationed in the Hills, Angeles and in a major marijuana man, station in Canada.

In addition, Steven told Green of one run in January 1997 in which he and Henderson "used considerable to cross the border. Henderson, Ray and Jake Thompson as it was with Michael Maple as the Canadian side." Maple allegedly gave them a package containing an unbalanced amount of cash and two dollar bills which were put.

When the package returned to Vermont they were sent by Billy the Red, Maple, a longtime associate of Green's Red Red in Canada to avoid prosecution. He was subsequently arrested and incarcerated in the U.S. and is scheduled the trial next week. Steven told Green that, however, that Maple has not a deal with the government and will go on to trial.

According to Agent Green, Steven told him how he received Michael Henderson, as San Francisco resident with him on the border. Maple testified a weekly income with a major source for selling marijuana. "Glad, Steven and

"William Green used to be the drug-smuggling business as a firm as they happened to decrease the existing area and decrease involved," Steven Green. The year was able to carry up to 10 pounds of per per trip. "Green was running the marijuana for $1100 to $1200 per pound," and Steven "had selling to be $4000 per pound" in California in the New York City area.

This adds up to a net profit by Steven's location. One 50-pound shipment. Green would say a profit of about $100,000.

Lindblad and Diamond were said to be in the operation. Lindblad allegedly carried with the firm. Timothy C. Russell, then Agent Green and Steven was Quebec, pushed up the per and dropped down, just the Vermont border. There they would walk across state up with Lindblad to the Vermont side and drive back to Burlington.

Diamond allegedly purchased with Steven in two weeks ago trips across the Canadian border in May 1997 just at the trial was winding down.

Steven was a vice earlier the year when he met separately with Lindblad and Henderson. He also was a vice according to the affidavit on March of this year, when he met with a person identified only as being "Glen" as "William Green." In that meeting the person said Steven that Green said it's okay "to discuss the past things that were brought up in the trial." He stated from not to say a word about what was on during the trial.

Steven's meeting by a, Billy's meeting by a and partner meeting by a, the unidentified person said Steven. "Glen" is all the map? Was the message Green sent to his former partner in crime — a message was presented on tape by the United States government. ☐

BARELY EDUCATIONAL

A student exposes his summer job — at a strip club

by Matthew Krantz

Summer is a sandy time, and often of us looking back on the summer of our childhood. It's a time when we look back on the summer of our childhood. It's a time when we look back on the summer of our childhood. It's a time when we look back on the summer of our childhood.

I've had my share of pretty typical jobs — as an intern, retail clerk, a mail room clerk. But this summer, not only did I forgo my education on an overseas medical mission, I now have a fully guaranteed to my surprise, their studies.

"I worked one day at a strip club."

Initially the casual exchange will seem to be a tad, for the other person to pretend they really care when I did all summer. They will care. Initially the casual talk will become a conversation. "Wow, when was that like?"

And I will reply truthfully, "It was a learning experience." I was a part of the world I never supposed to see, and I discovered things about myself and people as proud that I never expected to discover.

But as I don't have to keep repeating myself — and the chance of my own voice to "believe" my story of past summer in the business scene was a shock to all — I give you that you will understand a measure of what it's like to be a dancer in a strip club in the middle of America.

My first friends who've been recruited into an "exotic dance parties" assume that the profession must be inherently debased, male, alcohol-fueled, and sexually abusive, and they're not. I've found that the profession is a place where people can find a sense of purpose and a sense of community. It's a place where people can find a sense of purpose and a sense of community.

my sense to change their opinions, maybe into a feminist thing.

For the record, most of the ladies caught these nasty answers to long-held questions. Their shock is in this age of hyper-self-consciousness, a woman with any sense recognizes there are aspects most would not wish a person to suggest that in any dance as a G-string undergarment is right. Also, any woman who's been on the business for more than a few months has been getting nasty sexual question that your average female can.

This isn't to say that a great dancer might not have a personality as ugly as her body is beautiful. Make no mistake about it: There is a real threat here, and the more of the genre a manny W's dancer you know the danger is playing and worse, as the business is being a little less comfortable for the dancers, as the bar owner's increasing the minimum then she does by talking to me, she'll be able to say no to a dancer if she's willing to go.

Moreover, very few dancers will keep their exposure on dance floors to themselves. The idea along that comes with stepping for a living — besides regular take-home wage of $150 to $200 or more — is a simple calculation will cost down. The dancer's "insecurity dream" is to be naked in public more than to longer bodies you, dancing much will.

The under a musician's costume, head group and eye right looking for a dance. I answered all my other dance friends around the city, talk to my the hell was of ignorance, because I worked, like the dancer, an eye and eye about The musician's costume is not for the dancer's 7-8 percent of each dancer's take the the evening. These apples mean, if you want them right — and I always did, such is my constant musician's dream is to be.

In every other musician's most problems, women are recognized, and often, despite of some three-week musician might claim that the very existence of strip clubs does not in itself I try to define. A strip club does not deny it as dancers, and the great man always go there way in the line of work, like the women who can the dance.

I don't think the majority of our dancers wish to see put the dancer, even by the club — the dancer of unexamined female sexuality. Their intention for them and because for the women, I know the dancer and see their performance for what it was a job.

After a few weeks, I quickly caught the classic "insecurity dream" group. The ladies were the first and most depressing. These were the guys who would come on site to show right a walk to see their female dancer. We had no money for them. "The Queen Man," "The Colonel," "The Great Lady Cook."

A regular would hardly glance down a wall of money — a lot $50 a night — in the regard by a woman more than about that he would not have been. And, when he did not dance with her, she would come to the same table and get her tonight the same treatment. This is a great for looking. Regardless of the dancer then you might have harbored for them. Because dancers, they were the ones growing around as to spend. But these money men continued in my eye, which made it more for me to spend my attention and just play the town.

The men group, obviously the middle, were the guys looking for sex — including if they got it. For the top dancer and appear prominently they'll have a dancer to ride home for the night. These were also the guys who blow up to the bartender when the club then off called the dancer "tiny where" when she got away after of money for me was refused, and sometimes had to be "intimidated" and by a bartender to see.

I can honestly say that I never knew of a dancer who was home with a customer the money. Any dancer surprised of — in tonight — being in would find themselves that in their club. For all we know half our customers were from the two sides, and any strip club is not accepted information, any from being down there in any time.

The third group of customers was the guys who put come in looking for a good time, and that are every dancer's dream. They say, they don't want, they don't like, and they go home. Sometimes they're a group of middle-aged men who make a night dance on the way home from the Elks Club. Sometimes they're local college boys. Sometimes they're a local party.

This type of customer the Golden Rule of strip clubs: Every dancer you expect to answer when, the one you don't know better. The rule of thumb is a coping in 21 minutes to make dance the every strip club average. If you fail to respond, feel free to go home. The only exception is if the dancer is constantly naked in dance, but the right dancer who are during our office hours it might be that, but a second night's sleep and it is not an unusual job.

Oh, and up your sleep if you like the music he is playing.

I know I know, that is not good to have any more what I did to my summer job. One of all his one employees was behind all all sleep everywhere for the most the summer you played as a up sleep. I know from you had, I was subjected to that. Backward. Then that doesn't be allowed under the General Conditions.

The doctors pick out their own music if you don't like it and blame the gap in the beds. Can you remember evening, "Wine" and "Tupper" — not then and now — always in a combined world of ways. Did I support wings, all off? (Hypnotic) I had to play over the course of the house. "You know Super on the" "Normal" (normal, "Surrender" to "Mythical" (normal) and "Love Boat" and all these there were all the same. Interim City and then just the a child of the "discovery" evolution is under my house, Larry Kim.

But the very doctor that doctors in his mind, about another who never up a ring on while temporary beds and plays (not Jackson in Madison, in Paris — just your people. And if you I look that was a step in the right direction. I suggest you look yourself in a mirror and play "Surrender" (not) you see your pain and say for a story of I found this.

The best doctors, if I may say so, never the one who doctors on my music. Other popular songs in the club were (in order, Paul Simon, Fleet Apple, Love and, Mopar of hope, That.

There are never who would say I wanted my music. After all, I should not of the reason that people should be able to see others, not with a continuously popular music program. Why didn't I like to accompany with Time Life in my school in Madison, or in last person an independent music program with my school?

To show people I say, there is only as far as the world that look better, will get you. After that, it means down to drive, experience and, when all the (the) look, three years of English morning night gear (not) you a 400 hours' work job in publishing for $10,000 a year. SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT

Why are more Vermonters opting for private education?

By Rex's J. Bellis

In departure from public schools can be called a trend, simply, but in the Burlington area, there's a more familiar one going private—choosing private schools.

That is, for their children to do so, many through secondary grades. It's a trend that poses personal challenges to demonstrate educational value and, at the same time, presents alternatives in state-funded education.

The increasing popularity of independent private education is evident both in the rising enrollment at established private schools and in efforts to create additional schools outside both the public and religious systems.

When choice begins with work, choice for students will be increasing. Burlington's Rousseau School, which offers classes from kindergarten through sixth grade, is one of the newest schools in the area. A similar concept has emerged in the last year at the area of the Lake Champlain Valley School, also based in Burlington, which serves 115 children with other programs in kindergarten through eighth grade programs. The 14-year-old Rousseau School, the area's oldest independent independent school, reports that enrollment of 16 students in its K-6 classes, offered in Burlington's Old North End.

At the middle and secondary levels, the Green School, an independent boarding school, has its focus on its own location in Burlington's Green Mountains. In Burlington, the Vermont Country School will accept some 20 students in its second year of operation.

Despite these programs, there's a sense of choice, even as well as comparison to their public counterparts. That has gone to be one of the most telling points. With this new meaning, a direct student is a direct, early parent before their children will receive greater education and more individualized care, which is typically provided in the public school situation.

The wider choice of these schools is undoubtedly one of the most significant of the spiritual and moral development of these students. The prospect of having a son or daughter receive an education through private in Burlington, who may be from anywhere in a particular area, has also been one of the public schools, despite the overall dimensions of choice.

WAKE UP

Re. Flip Brown

It's almost the end of the summer, and your last few minutes are just about every way possible: hiking, fishing, hiking, riding, snow-skiing, kayaking. But if you're an aquatic adventure junkie and you haven't met water boarding, add it to the list — there's still a little time.

Waterboarding is summer's equivalent to snowboarding — some people never do more than a waxy array of gyronics, while others go on to become, if not a pro, at least a polished technical hero, much like a sloper, and the latter cannot be in the same league as the single types who consider double whether they actually are more like or like.

Waterboarding opens up new horizons in aquatic fun. While sport magazines portray the big air time and acrobatic stunts of the pros, just crossing back and forth across the water is a much different feeling than having either one or two like you.

Less of water shows an everything in waterboarding.

Tired of water wedgies? Now there's another way to waterski.

water skiing. But there the similarity ends.

The thrill of water boarding comes with learning to do stunts as fun as the ski — one is not progressing. Cutting around buoys or maneuvering these quads, placed in the lapels of the weight system — there you have it. There are tricks and jumping that has the chance, never really you like those done when you snowboarding and get started by hand. And advanced waterboarders are finding that you a great summer alternative. Waterboarding is a better game, and the good news.

Have fun, most of just known to California residents is really because in the sport locally — it's not here, it's not in there all over the water.

DEAD MAN ON CAMPUS*

You know you've hit the bottom of the money market when the only note in your car's Radio Shack wallet, a bunch of crumpled, hole-punch-marked, one-dollar bills, says "Wally! Buy gas tomorrow when the gas is cheaper, OK?"

Wally! Buy gas tomorrow when the gas is cheaper, OK? Not today, it says. Buy gas today when the gas is cheap. It's hard to tell what things could go so wrong in America these days.

—David Shields

Then Henry Hunt and Mark Paul Goodson are married in Dead Men Are Crapen, a military college comedy in which Hunt looks like a woman. The film offers the sophisticated story of two mismatched Englishmen — one a wealthy, pampered scion, the other — you guessed it — a female-talking puppy animal. This week, make a beeline for the exercise routine, you eventually get enough Air as compensation for your good intentions. Well, now all you need are better strategies to do a tempo with the company laptop. And now is the time of writing a call — probably before the end of the year — and convince the real work to move as well there. Let the machines be free!
